Economics of Food Safety Julie A. Caswell,2012-12-06 Public concern about the safety and healthfulness of the food supply grew markedly during the 1980s Numerous government academic interest group and media reports questioning the adequacy of the food safety regulatory system formed the basis for this increase in concern While public concern focused most directly on pesticide residues in food scientists emphasized the risks of illness associated with microbiological contamination of food Much additional attention was focused on the food supply as a result of the striking consensus on dietary recommendations that emerged in the late 1980s based on increased scientific knowledge of linkages between diet and health Relatively little research on the economic aspects of food safety and nutrition issues had been conducted up to the mid 1980s These aspects are complex On the consumer demand side they include consumers perceptions of the risks associated with particular food products how demographic characteristics influence consumers processing of risk information and subsequent changes in food demand behavior and the monetary value consumers might place on changes in the risk profiles of products The economic benefits and costs associated with current food consumption patterns are a major determinant of demand for improved food safety and dietary change through government regulation While a more complete picture of risks benefits and costs has been emerging recently much is yet unknown

Art Power Boris Groys, 2013-02-08 A new book by Boris Groys acknowledges the problem and potential of art's complex relationship to power Art has its own power in the world and is as much a force in the power play of global politics today as it once was in the arena of cold war politics Art argues the distinguished theoretician Boris Groys is hardly a powerless commodity subject to the art market's fiat of inclusion and exclusion In Art Power Groys examines modern and contemporary art according to its ideological function Art Groys writes is produced and brought before the public in two ways as a commodity and as a tool of political propaganda In the contemporary art scene very little attention is paid to the latter function Arguing for the inclusion of politically motivated art in contemporary art discourse Groys considers art produced under totalitarianism Socialism and post Communism He also considers today's mainstream Western art which he finds behaving more and more according to the norms of ideological propaganda produced and exhibited for the masses at international exhibitions biennials and festivals Contemporary art Groys argues demonstrates its power by appropriating the iconoclastic gestures directed against itself by positioning itself simultaneously as an image and as a critique of the image In Art Power Groys examines this fundamental appropriation that produces the paradoxical object of the modern artwork

Neural Machine Translation Philipp Koehn, 2020-06-18 Learn how to build machine translation systems with deep learning from the ground up from basic concepts to cutting edge research

Quality Estimation for Machine Translation Lucia Specia, Carolina Scarton, Gustavo Henrique Paetzold, 2022-05-31 Many applications within natural language processing involve performing text to text transformations i e given a text in natural language as input systems are required to produce a version of this text e g a translation also in natural language as output Automatically evaluating the output of such systems is an important component in developing text to text applications Two approaches have been proposed for this problem i to compare the system outputs against one or more reference outputs

using string matching based evaluation metrics and ii to build models based on human feedback to predict the quality of system outputs without reference texts Despite their popularity reference based evaluation metrics are faced with the challenge that multiple good and bad quality outputs can be produced by text to text approaches for the same input This variation is very hard to capture even with multiple reference texts In addition reference based metrics cannot be used in production e.g. online machine translation systems when systems are expected to produce outputs for any unseen input In this book we focus on the second set of metrics so called Quality Estimation QE metrics where the goal is to provide an estimate on how good or reliable the texts produced by an application are without access to gold standard outputs QE enables different types of evaluation that can target different types of users and applications Machine learning techniques are used to build QE models with various types of quality labels and explicit features or learnt representations which can then predict the quality of unseen system outputs This book describes the topic of QE for text to text applications covering quality labels features algorithms evaluation uses and state of the art approaches It focuses on machine translation as application since this represents most of the QE work done to date It also briefly describes QE for several other applications including text simplification text summarization grammatical error correction and natural language generation

An Anthropology of Images Hans Belting, 2022-07-12 A compelling theory that places the origin of human picture making in the body In this groundbreaking book renowned art historian Hans Belting proposes a new anthropological theory for interpreting human picture making Rather than focus exclusively on pictures as they are embodied in various media such as painting sculpture or photography he links pictures to our mental images and therefore our bodies The body is understood as a living medium that produces perceives or remembers images that are different from the images we encounter through handmade or technical pictures Refusing to reduce images to their material embodiment yet acknowledging the importance of the historical media in which images are manifested An Anthropology of Images presents a challenging and provocative new account of what pictures are and how they function The book demonstrates these ideas with a series of compelling case studies ranging from Dante's picture theory to post photography One chapter explores the tension between image and medium in two media of the body the coat of arms and the portrait painting Another central chapter looks at the relationship between image and death tracing picture production including the first use of the mask to early funerary rituals in which pictures served to represent the missing bodies of the dead Pictures were tools to re-embody the deceased to make them present again a fact that offers a surprising clue to the riddle of presence and absence in most pictures and that reveals a genealogy of pictures obscured by Platonic picture theory

History as

Re-enactment William H. Dray, 1999 A central motif of R G Collingwood's philosophy of history is the idea that historical understanding requires a re-enactment of past experience. However, there have been sharp disagreements about the acceptability of this idea and even its meaning. This book aims to advance the critical discussion in three ways: by analysing the idea itself, further concentrating especially on the contrast which Collingwood drew between it and scientific understanding by exploring the limits of its applicability to what historians ordinarily consider their proper subject matter, and by clarifying the relationship between it and some other key Collingwoodian ideas such as the place of imagination in historical inquiry, the sense in which history deals with the individual, the essential perspectivity of historical judgement, and the importance of narrative and periodization in historical thinking. Professor Dray defends Collingwood against a good deal of recent criticism while pointing to ways in which his position requires revision or development. History as Re-enactment draws upon a wide range of Collingwood's published writings and makes considerable use of his unpublished manuscripts. It is the most systematic study yet of this central doctrine of Collingwood's philosophy of history and will stand as a landmark in Collingwood studies. For many years William Dray has been working at the task of retrieving Collingwood for contemporary philosophy. It is something of an event, then, to have this new work, the culmination of a lifetime of thought, appear in his retirement. As one would expect, it is a deeply considered book, lucidly written and scrupulously fair to all parties; a sound and serious philosophical commentary anyone interested in either Collingwood or the philosophy of history should consider joining the dialogue and will learn much in the process. Canadian Journal of History Bern 1969

Germano Celant, 2013 The Fondazione Prada presents between 1 June and 3 November 2013 at Ca' Corner della Regina in Venice an exhibition entitled When Attitudes Become Form. Bern 1969 Venice 2013, curated by Germano Celant in dialogue with Thomas Demand and Rem Koolhaas. In a surprising and novel remaking, the project reconstructs Live in Your Head, When Attitudes Become Form, a show curated by Harald Szeemann at the Bern Kunsthalle in 1969, which went down in history for the curator's radical approach to exhibition practice conceived as a linguistic medium. Yonnondio Tillie Olsen, 2004-10-01 Yonnondio follows the heartbreaking path of the Holbrook family in the late 1920s and the Great Depression as they move from the coal mines of Wyoming to a tenant farm in western Nebraska, ending up finally on the kill floors of the slaughterhouses and in the wretched neighborhoods of the poor in Omaha, Nebraska. Mazie, the oldest daughter in the growing family of Jim and Anna Holbrook, tells the story of the family's desire for a better life, Anna's dream that her children be educated, and Jim's wish for a life lived out in the open, away from the darkness and danger of the mines. At every turn in their journey, however, their dreams are frustrated and the family is jeopardized by cruel and indifferent systems.
